Free-Air has opened in Mountain Home

From submitted reports

Free-Air Heating, Air Conditioning & Refrigeration Co. has opened at 3716 County Road 11 in Mountain Home. The business is owned by Larry Deeley.

"Free air will repair, supply or replace as needed heating, air conditioning and refrigeration units for residential, industrial and light commercial applications," Donna Deeley said.

The business was started because "Larry worked on the air conditioning packages of the F4 Phantom in the Navy aboard the USS Ranger. With his natural ability, talent and skill, he quickly excelled in the HVAC field," she said. The couple relocated to the area in the summer from the San Francisco Bay area in California.

Deeley is originally from Bakersfield, Mo. The Mountain Home area was the logical choice because of its growth in businesses, real estate and the genuinely nice people that live here, she said.

Working at Free-Air Heating, Air Conditioning & Refrigeration Co. is Deeley who takes the calls, does the scheduling, marketing and administrative portion of the business. Larry Deeley is the technician, troubleshooter, auto cad
